

Justin Breidenbach serves as an Assistant Professor of Accounting at Ohio Wesleyan University (Delaware, OH) and instructs courses on financial accounting, taxation, and auditing. Prior to joining the faculty at OWU, Justin served as a faculty member at Lake Erie College (Painesville, OH). His primary research interests are financial reporting, auditing and assurance services, tax accounting, and financial fraud detection and deterrence.

Justin continually works with students outside of the classroom and has been involved as faculty supervisor for student lead clubs, accounting competition teams, and travel learning opportunities. Justin finds it important for students to receive hands-on experience in their fields of interest in order to develop technical skill and their emotional intelligence.

Prior to joining the world of academia, Justin had extensive professional work experience in public accounting providing services to organizations operating in the fields of manufacturing, distribution & service, and not-for-profit. He still enjoys working with individuals and businesses on accounting-related topics which is done so through his accounting firm, Breidenbach CPA.

Justin received his Masters of Accountancy degree from Bowling Green State University (Bowling Green, OH) and he is a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) and Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE).

Outside of this professional life, Justin enjoys spending time and traveling with his wife, Tiffany, and son, Mason.
